"WE NEED MORE TOYS!" PLEADS BATBOY

ECONOMIC DOWNTURN HITS MAIN ST. USA

CHILDREN TAKE TO STREET PERFORMING, TAXI DRIVING IN THE MAGIC KINDOM

Even the Happiest Place on Earth isn't immune from our troubled economy. It costs a family of four $256 just to walk through the front gates. (Tip: Imply that your 3 year old is still 2 and save $59). But the look on a child's face when you give them Saltines instead of a $6.00 churro: Priceless!

Upon entry, Gavin made a B line to the Jungle Cruise. The kids really think the animals are real. And you know what, they still look great after all this time. We hope this counts as a visit to the zoo for the year as well.

DRIVER SEAT "DRIVER"

After hitting up Pirates, Haunted Mansion, Santa's Ranch and It's a Small World Africa (as Gavin calls it), we went for a drive. Isabella would not take a back seat on this trip, so she "drove" the course while daddy's big foot kept the pedal to the metal. Not for the squeamish, or pregnant women and people with neck injuries!

All in all, the folks at Disneyland do a pretty grand job during the holidays. Best firworks show EVER, followed by snow flurries over Main Street. For $6 churros, it's almost worth it!

HALLOWEEN CORNER!

A pirate, leprechaun and princess walk into a bar... We tightened our belts and recycled Gavin's attire from last year. Pretty sure he thinks Halloween means dress up like a pirate day!

CELEBRITY SIGHTING

Chris, Brittany and Norma took time out of their busy schedules to snap a photo with uber fan, Jason Alexander. "Without our fans, we're nothing!" Brittany confides!

VALLEY GIRL NO MORE!

SDSU Dorms Get the Boot for Condo as San Fernando Valley socialite, Brittany, officially makes the move to San Diego. Some pros and cons:

- No need to book hotel room for Comic-Con
- Friends show up unannounced the week of Comic-Con
- No L.A. smog or L.A. traffic
- Replaced with San Diego smog & traffic
